

Dear all,

The QoG institute and the ANTICORRP research program has a job opening for the position as Researcher.

Type of employment: Fixed-term employment, until 2017-02-27

Extent: 50-100 %

Location: Department of Political Science, Gothenburg

First day of employment: As soon as possible

Reference number: PAK 2016/1480

Job assignments

The main task of the researcher will be to extract and communicate the project's main findings and research results in a policy friendly format. The job also includes assisting in writing research reports to be reported to the European Commission.

Qualifications

You should have a master degree in Political Sciences, Social Sciences, Economics and/or related field. A PhD in any of the above fields and experience of working with STATA, are additional merits. Given the short introduction and time of employment, we are looking for you with prior research experience as closely connected as possible to above described project area.

You should have excellent analytical skills and high skills in understanding research findings on corruption and quality of government. We expect you to have very strong ability to effectively communicate, in writing, the research findings to both academic and policy audiences. All communication will be in English, therefore excellent skills in English are a requirement.

To be able to carry out described task successfully we expect that you are highly independent and sociable person who thrives in a demanding and flexible working environment
